COMTECH

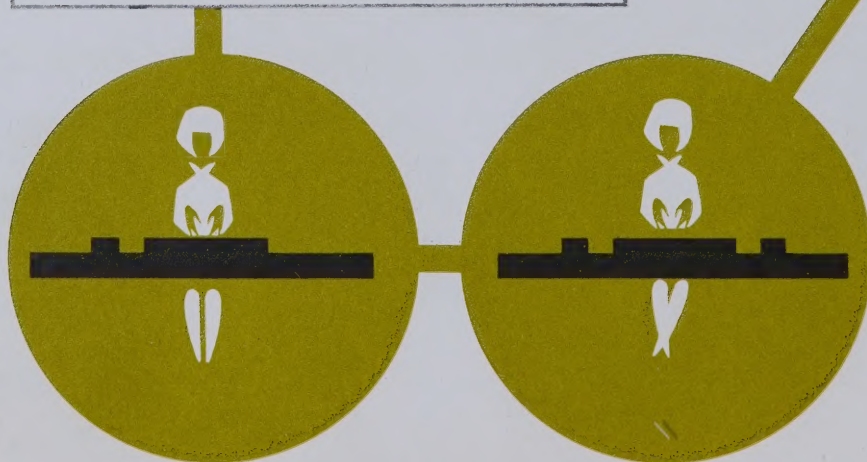

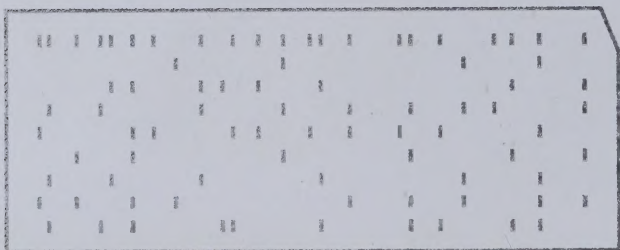

One of North America's leading independent data processing organizations specializing in payroll and management information.

TECHNICAL RESOURCE

Today, with a highly qualified staff, plus third generation computers complete with all associated equipment, COMTECH offers the most comprehensive payroll, job costing and personnel record services available in North America. This high degree of technical competence, combined with a single minded dedication to payroll SERVICE, has made COMTECH the leader in its field.

DATA ACCURACY

Modern computers are capable of performing with absolute accuracy in a matter of minutes a data processing function which would otherwise take a human being weeks of tedious labour, even with the assistance of the many electro-mechanical calculating devices available to him.

The computer allows complete control at all stages of its operation and an essential part of its programming is to monitor the data supplied and to reject and report errors which may occur in the material supplied.

CONTROL BY CLIENT

The requirement of each payroll system is at all times determined by the client company in conjunction with the advice and counsel provided by the COMTECH representative who work in close liaison with the company's management. In this respect, the service offered by COMTECH is second to none; with its highly trained and experienced staff of service personnel, analysts, programmers and operators, the contribution it makes to any company's operation is a closely integrated yet highly specialized extension of that company, offering the security of a constant checking system at all stages of the processing operation.

CLIENT REQUIREMENT

The technical competence, versatility and scope of the COMTECH organization permit the highest standard of efficient service to meet client requirements at all times.

To the smaller company COMTECH offers a complete payroll service, as extensive or as limited as the company requires, without necessitating the major expense of an internal computer set-up. Decision previously made on intuition can be made based on accurate and up to date costing information on each job in progress.

To the larger company that has its own computer installation COMTECH offers a competitive service to any performed by internal operations. COMTECH'S dedication to the payroll area results in a level of service difficult to match even in the most sophisticated internal computer installation.
